One hundred and ninety-two teachers will take up their classes in Richmond on Monday, according to a report given yesterday by Miss Norah Ashfield. This is an increase of ten instructors over last year.

No accurate figures on the enrollment of the schools can be given until school opens on Monday but it is expected that a material increase over last year's enrollment will be noted. At the closing of the 1925-26 year, 6281 students were enrolled in every school.

Of this number 1193 were in the Roosevelt Junior high school; 698 in the high school; 3073 in the elementary schools; 584 in kindergartens; 426 in evening school, and 307 in part time school.

Terrific Forest Fires Are Raging In State

EIGHT FOREST FIRES BURNING IN THE NORTH

Flames Sweep Over Thousands Of Acres Destroying Timber And Telegraph Lines

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—Forest and brush fires tonight were sweeping several sections of California.

A forest fire nineteen miles north of Dunsmuir late today destroyed five miles of telephone and telegraph lines of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

In the national forests new blazes were reported in both the Tahoe and California reserves.

In the Tahoe forest a fire on Sagehen creek on the Truckee side had burned over 15,000 acres and 100 men were on the fire lines.

In the same forest between Goodyear and Downville 400 acres were flame swept and 75 men were fighting the blaze.

In the California forest above Clear Lake the Upper Lake fire was still out of control with 175 men battling it while another was reported started in the Pleasant district.

One hundred and fifty men were fighting the Bower Cave fire in Stanislaus national forest.

A brush and grass fire in Nevada county for a time threatened Nevada City, burned twelve houses and swept a ten mile area. Three hundred fire fighters are believed to have it confined.

A less serious fire in Capay Valley, Yolo county, was believed under control.

Re-election Of Zeb Knott Is Predicted

Past Record of Supervisor Given as Assurance of Keeping Office

(By Universal Service)

FOUR years ago, Supervisor Zeb Knott had no opposition in his campaign. Eight years ago he had an opponent and came out of the election with a victory, being given a majority of over 1,500. This year his friends predict that his majority will be much greater than in 1916.

Everywhere you go, the talk is not who is going to win, but how big a majority Knott is going to receive, and wagers are being made on this basis almost daily.

Knott has made a first class supervisor for the people of District No. 1 and from the expressions heard on all sides, the voters will go to the polls August 31 and see that he is retained to serve them form another four years.

It is generally conceded that Knott is one of the best campaigners in the county, has a very wide acquaintance, and this year he is extending that acquaintance to practically every voter in the district.

A vote taken today would give Knott a big majority and every day that passes from now until the primary will increase that majority.

DUCK WONT EAT SINCE DOG DIED

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Aug. 5.—The hand of a dog poisoner has spread sorrow among countless Berkeley homes during the past two months but today the poisoner struck at one of the strangest friendships in Berkeley history.

Billow, a huge Mastiff, the playmate and guardian of a score of children in the exclusive Thousand Oaks district, and pal of "Quick," a duck, died of poisoned meat "Quick" the duck, is broken-hearted and has refused to eat or swim since the dog died, according to the report of Mrs. L. A. Dennison, their owner.

Woman Seeks Possession Of "Super Child"

Asks Courts for Possession of Child Given to Woman by The Sick Father

(By Universal Service)

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 5.—A woman who sacrificed children, husband, friends and home to satisfy her desire to become the mother of a "super child" will appear in Superior court here Tuesday to fight for possession of that child.

An amazing story of human relations was revealed when Mrs. Emma Nelson, 35, of San Francisco, a former resident of Seattle, filed petition for a writ of habeas corpus designed to force Mrs. George E. Caldwell of Berkeley to restore the "super child" to her.

Mrs. Nelson, according to her attorneys, was the wife of a well-to-do Seattle man, and mother of two children.

Impelled by what her attorney termed "a spiritual urge," Mrs. Nelson left her husband and came to California, seeking a mate for the purpose of bearing a "super child."

She met Robert Rude, a San Francisco tailor, who is the father of the 3-year old child around whom the impending court battle looms.

The child was named Rauline Rude. It was placed in care of Mrs. Caldwell by the father several months ago before he suffered a breakdown that resulted in him being sent to a hospital.

Nelson, in Seattle, learning of the birth of the child obtained a divorce and custody of the two Nelson children.

Years passed. Nelson and his wife corresponded and determined to reunite. Nelson agreed to take the little "super child" into his home with his wife and his own two children.

For this purpose Mrs. Nelson demanded the little girl. She was refused. Her petition was filed to carry out her plan for a reunited family.

Nelson now resides in Los Angeles.

PRIMARY FUNDS OVER MILLIONS HEARINGS SHOW

Anti-Saloon League Expended Huge Sums for Political and Propaganda Work

(By Universal Service)

By CHARLES N. WHEELER

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—After putting the total of campaign funds used directly and indirectly in the Illinois senatorial primary above the million dollar mark and listening to a third defiance to the contributions of Samuel Insull to local candidates, the senate slush committee today concluded the Chicago sittings.

Chairman Reed announced that he committee probably would not resume its public hearings for a considerable time. He expressed the thanks of the committee to Judge Wilkerson and the court attaches and also the newspaper men "for keeping order in the galleries."

Asked for a statement Senator Reed said:

"What we have brought out here speaks for itself," he said. "We were generally informed as we went along and, well, what and see what they think about it."

Unofficially, and not for the record, the senator observed, with reference to the refusal of witnesses to answer questions.

"I think some of these gentlemen will go to jail," Daniel J. Schuyler for many years one of Insull's attorneys, was the last witness to refuse to tell the committee whether he contributed any money of his own or of Insull's to the Cook campaign.

He said he respectfully declined to answer the question, holding that the committee had no right to ask it.

Insull and State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe previously had refused to tell the committee what they knew about certain funds having been employed in the Cook county campaign and whether it was Insull money.

Other high spots in the last day of the local hearing were:

1. Disclosure that the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois expended approximately $150,000 for propaganda work in Illinois in the last year, and admission by George B. Safford, the superintendent that their work was in large degree political.

DENY WARRANTS IN HALL CASE ARE ISSUED

(By Universal Service)

By EARL L. SHAUB

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 5.—The Hall-Mills murder mystery investigation resolved today into a conflict between rumor and truth.

First came a report that warrants had been issued for Ralph Gorsline, vestryman in the Hall church, and Nellie Russell, a negro. The former was said to be charged with being an accessory after the fact and the latter, it was said, was wanted as a material witness.

It was learned later, however, that they will not be arrested for the present unless they attempt to leave the state.

Everything was quiet today around the home of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, who is charged with the murder of her husband, the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

In connection with the report that a warrant had been issued for Gorsline, it was stated that he is the person who informed Mrs. Hall of the clandestine love affair between Hall and Mrs. Mills. He showed Mrs. Hall, it is said, some of the love letters the two exchanged by leaving them in a box at the church.

The Russell woman is accused of having denied the story of Mrs. Jane Gibson, who says she saw Mrs. Hall and a man bending over the bodies of the victims on the night of the crime. She says that Mrs. Gibson was visiting her at the time she says she was at the murder scene.

It was learned today that the "mystery woman" who yesterday gave Prosecutor Simpson "enough evidence to solve the mystery in forty-eight hours" is Mrs. Augusta Tompkins, sister of Mrs. Mills. She admitted today that she has been conducting a "little investigation" of her own.

It was also reported tonight that Willie Stevens, the weak minded brother of Mrs. Hall, will soon be questioned as will all the servants in the Hall home.

Simpson today urged reporters to "play me down. I don't want to seem to be grabbing too much personal publicity."

He intimated that many of the moves he has been making and much that he has been saying have no real significance but constitute a smoke screen behind which he is hiding a "master coup" which he plans to spring "when the time comes."

In the meantime the suspense and the mystery is maintained by flocks of detectives who appear and disappear at frequent intervals.

Spurgeon Pleads Guilty to Charge

(By Universal Service)

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 5.—Chas. Spurgeon of Los Angeles, today pleaded guilty here to a charge of failure to provide for his six-year old son, after he was arrested on two attempts to kidnap the boy from his mother.

Spurgeon, who resides in Los Angeles, was put on the stand today and questioned by Police Judge E. J. Tyrell as to why he did not sell his automobile and use the money to support the child. Spurgeon replied that in the section of Los Angeles where he resides restaurants are two miles apart and he needed the automobile to carry him to and from meals.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Doney have returned to their home at 148 South Sixteenth street from Los Angeles where they visited friends and relatives.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE WHITE HOUSE STARTED

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—A small army of workmen was busy today in a clean-up and paint-up campaign at the White House, so that when President and Mrs. Coolidge return from their vacation they will find their residence spot and spot.

Three coats of white paint will make the building glisten. The great east room, scene of brilliant functions of state, also is being redecorated, the first time in twelve years. The housekeeper's quarters are also being renovated.

The ordinary crushed stone roadway that leads up to the entrance of the executive mansion, is being replaced by a new roadway to cost $6,000.

The automatic elevator that occasionally stopped between floors to the embarrassment of host and guest at the mansion, is being replaced by a new electric lift.

The condemned roof has not been touched as yet. Congress appropriated funds to replace it, but the president has not given the word to go ahead.

Announcement of a general repair and renovation program for the capitol was made by David Lynn, capitol architect. Repairs will cost $81,740. The building is to be cleaned and repainted in October.

For the library of congress $400,000 will be spent for new book stacks, $13,000 for metal furniture, $12,000 for book stack ventilation, $2,500 for painting, $12,000 for furniture, and $2,500 for general repairs, a total of $452,000.

GUESTS AT CARQUINEZ

Ormiston May Produce "Miss X" Before Secret Probe Of The Los Angeles Grand Jury

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—Coincident with an official "showdown" in the Albee Temple McPherson kidnapping case, rumors were in circulation today that negotiations were under way to bring Kenneth G. Ormiston back from Chicago.

The presence here of Ormiston, former radio operator at Angeles Temple is desired definitely to clear away all doubt concerning the identity of "Miss X," his companion in a cottage at Carmel during the latter part of May.

According to the report Ormiston has under consideration a proposal to produce "Miss X" before the grand jury here. The matter of her identity would be secure under the grand jury's oath of secrecy. The proposal is said to have been made to Ormiston by Los Angeles investigators through a Chicago attorney.

The "showdown" in the investigation brought a rebuke to the grand jury from Superior Court Judge Arthur Keesh and a subsequent commendation to District Attorney Ask Keyes.

Injured Albany Man Flees From Hospital

(By Universal Service)

SAN RAFAEL, Aug. 5.—Dazed by the shock of injuries he received when he was catapulted from his automobile against a barbed wire fence, Edward Forsyth, of Albany, this afternoon fled from the operating table of a San Rafael hospital. Surgeons had just finished putting twelve stitches in his throat which had been cut by the wire from ear to ear.

Police and hospital attendants failed to find Forsyth in a search of territory surrounding the hospital.

Coolidge Arrives For Visit To Former Home In Vermont And Begins Work Of Repair

(By Universal Service)

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 5.—Facing certain defeat, former Governor W. W. Stickney got out of the contest for United States Senator to save President Coolidge from possible embarrassment.

The inside story of one of the most interesting senatorial situations in the country was revealed today by the Vermonters with whom President Coolidge mingled on the second day of his sojourn here.

Stickney, lifelong friend of the president and crony of the president's late father, was put into the race by Attorney General Sargent in the hope of defeating Senator Porter H. Dale for re-nomination.

Dale had voted to pass the Soldiers' Bonus bill over the president's veto. He voted for the Postal Employees' Pay bill after the president had vetoed it. He failed to stand by the president as to have been the campaign cry against Dale. As a matter of fact, Sargent was out "to get" Dale because of a long standing political feud between them.

Dale likes to be called a progressive. Sargent was for years the political and legal agent of the railroads and other corporations in the state capitol at Montpelier.

Sargent's far-flung political machine made a thorough canvass of the state and his agents reported that Dale was too strong with the people to be beaten. They liked Dale for his independence. The postal employees and war veterans were with him to a man. Stickney, law partner of Sargent, was too close to the corporations to suit the people. With the president and Sargent coming from this section of the state, the Vermonters were opposed to centralizing too much power in and around this little village. Stickney lives but two or three miles from the Coolidge homestead.

With all those against him, Stickney recently withdrew, leaving the Republican field to Dale. He and Sargent feared that he defeat would be interpreted nationally as a repudiation of the president by his home state and might have a disastrous result. It is an interesting fact that

File Damage Suit Against School

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Aug. 5.—A valuation of $100,000 was placed today on two fingers of a 17-year-old, Charles B. McHarris, when his parents filed suit for that amount against the Berkeley Board of Education, the principal of the high school and instructors. McHarris lost the fingers when they were caught in a printing press in the school, the suit alleges.

This shows an increase of nearly fifty percent over the valuation for last year which amounted to $2,123,340. The greater portion of the increased assessments are against unimproved property, she stated.

A RADIO COMMISSION

It would be a mistake to remove the supervision of radio from the Department of Commerce and vest it in a commission of five members with salaries of $10,000 a year each and all the usual frills of a separate government bureau. Given that kind of a start, such a bureau would soon doubtless be costing the government as much as a department did a third of a century ago.

It is generally agreed that the radio situation has been satisfactorily handled up to this time by the Department of Commerce under Secretary Hoover. There is no basis for the suspicion that radio has been or will be so controlled as to further the fortunes of any individual or element. It is a business proposition and belongs under that department of government that has to do with the supervision and encouragement of American business.

The average citizen who does his own thinking will not be inclined to be enthusiastic about the proposal for a new commission. Just now the tendency of the best thought in America is toward abolishing most of the commissions we now have, rather than toward creating new ones.

Every once in a while some senator or congressman makes a speech denouncing the number of useless boards and commissions in Washington and in the various state governments, and the tendency to bureaucratic government which they furnish, and the speaker always gets a warm welcome from his hearers. In view of this tendency away from bureaucracy, it is difficult to see how another new commission is going to meet with any particular favor from the country at large.

Instead of increasing the number of independent boards, bureaus and commissions, congress would do well to lop off many of those now existing. One of their own functions, powers and payrolls.

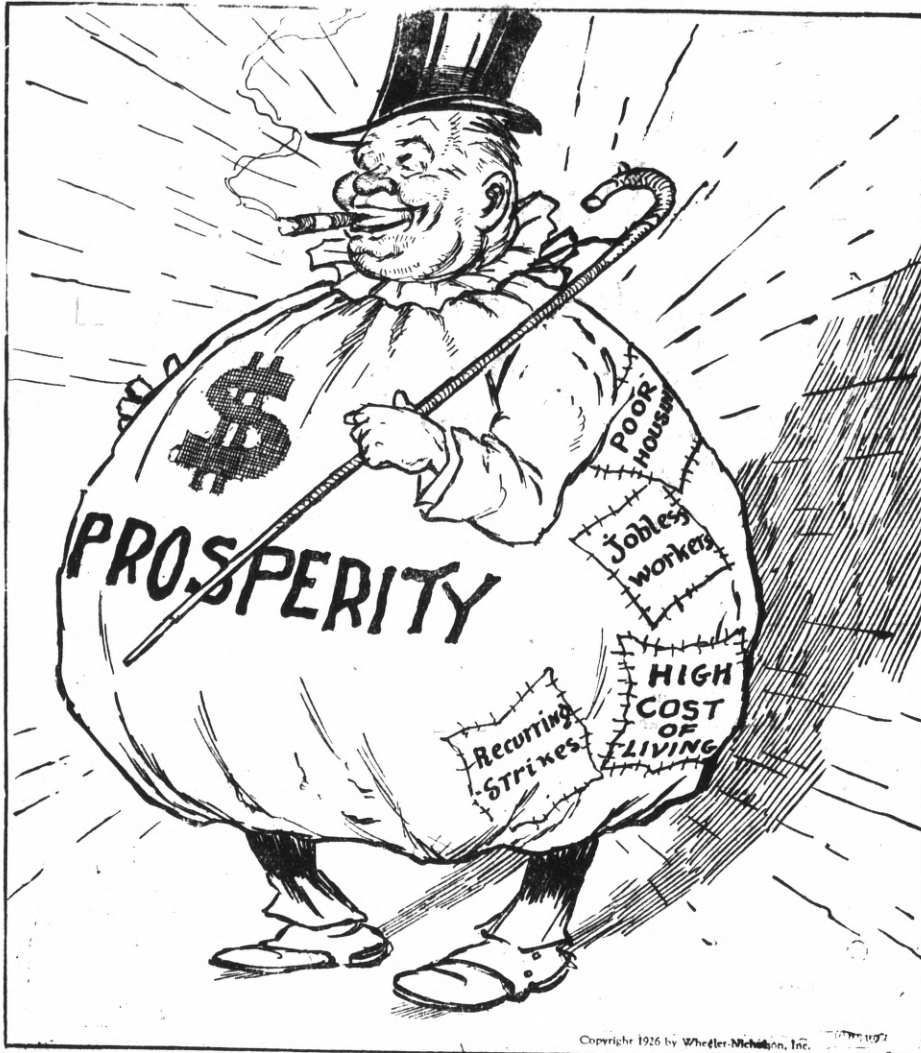

Any attempted misuse of radio would constitute a liability rather than an asset to the official attempting it. Indeed, it is necessary for any official having responsibility in this matter to lean backwards in order to avoid such a suspicion. Every cabinet official is responsible to the president, to congress and to public sentiment, and would quickly suffer from any misuse of this power. It is better to have responsibility centered in one person, who can be held responsible, rather than to have it divided among five men who if disposed to misuse their authority, could more easily do it than any individual by trading among themselves for mutual concessions.

WHO ARE SPORTSMEN?

The word "sportsmen" today means something. It means more each year. It implies moderation and not butchery. It means one who loves not just the killing of a large quantity of game, but who thrills to the concentration of keen faculties, the perfect coordination of nerve and muscle, and the quick action essential to the taking of game under sportsmanlike conditions. It means one who always had firmly fixed in the mind the fact that the game of today is not all of his for the taking, but he must respect its limitations that the same or an even larger supply may be left for the coming generation.—Bulletin of American Game Protective Association.

It is now virtually established that there is no land at the Pole. So there's no cause to worry about a real estate boom to hurt the business at Miami or Los Angeles.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WHAT COUNTS

It does not count how silly the "others" think you have been in marrying for love, as long as you are divinely intoxicated by it. It does not count as to the number of rooms you have in your house, as long as those on the outside gladly accept each invitation to enter it.

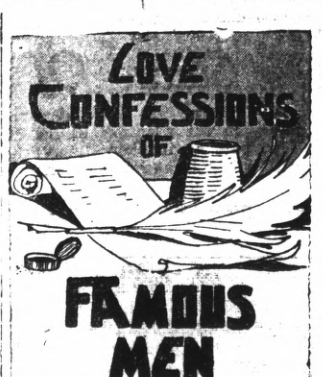

It does not count so much what "the rest" say about the furniture of your home, as long as to you and yours is spells comfort.

It does not count so much what kind of hot cakes you serve at breakfast, as long as you serve with them a psychology of good cheer.

It does not count as much to lose your dollars, as to lose your sense of humor.

It does not count so much as to the number of wedding anniversaries you have celebrated, as long as the warmth of your handclasp never grows less, and the thrills of love keep tingling in your fingers, and you tune in your vibrations together.

PROVERB: Sand, sympathy, and sense are the three-foot yardstick by which we measure manhood and womanhood.—(C. P. Celgrove.)

By Richard Wagner's Minna

RICHARD WAGNER'S MINNA

At the age of twenty-three Richard Wagner, the great composer, met a pretty young actress named Minna Paner with whom he fell in love.

Minna was not greatly impressed at first with the struggling young musician, but his ardor carried her away and she married him.

Thereupon began a sorrowful existence for both. For a while they lived happily but Wagner was not possessed of that temperament which makes for loyalty to one woman. He was a man who coveted the luxuries of life and the adulation of women, and as he grew more known, little Minna receded farther into the background and became to the world, with no little assistance from the composer himself, a grossly unsuitable companion for a great genius.

MINNA WAGNER

However, for a time this famous couple were happy, and it was while under the spell of his first love that Wagner wrote of his passion in the opera "Tannhauser," and more definitely expressed his affection for his beautiful young wife in the following blithe prose terms:

"My dear good Mienel:

"My earliest occupation here (in Hamburg) after sleeping off my journey, is to write to you. I have been prattling with you all the time, even after I awoke last night and wanted to set my travel-heated blood in order by a strong effervescent powder. I had no candle and meant to feel out the inscription of the different packets; it was unnecessary, though since you prudently had made them up of different sizes, so that I could recognize your forethought even in the dark. In the morning I at once began my usual chat from bed with you and Peps (Wagner's dog) to pretend I still was with you.....

"Now, greet my friends, hold me dear and take good care of the children (imaginary). Don't throw the bed-clothes off at night. Throw well, you good old sweetheart, be of good cheer and reflect that nothing in the world is as bad as this villainous pen.

"Adieu, Mienel; many, many kisses."

THE MOTHER OF ARTHUR CAPPER

"Every man worthy the name thinks his mother as the most wonderful of women," writes Senator Capper. "I think that of mine, a gentle Quaker who gave her best thought and effort to the task of rearing her son according to the best lights of a higher idealism.

"She was a pioneer. Pioneer life was rigorous and exacting. It took heavy toll of comfort and ease and beauty. But its very stress burnished and brought out in fine relief beauty of spirit and character. Weaklings could not survive the test. Only steadfast courage could endure it.

"It is a scant half century since I was a small boy on the Kansas prairies. Yet the passing of those years has witnessed a literally marvelous change in the life of the two generations. What were then luxuries beyond the fondest dreams are today commonplace. Yet with all its poverty of luxury and comfort with all its rigors and hardships, pioneer life had its compensations. Whatever came from its crutches was at least sturdy and tempered.

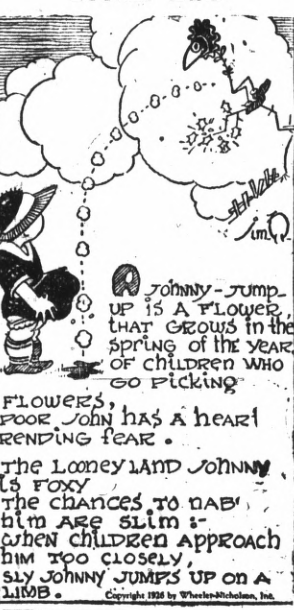

"For whatever degree and integrity of purpose I may lay claim, I am indebted to the example of my mother. There was nothing of passive non-resistance in her Quakerism. She was in her conception of righteousness, though not boisterous and clamorous, in support of means that contributed to the furthering of those conceptions. In a state that pioneered prohibition among the states, both my father and mother were pioneers in that great moral and economic reform.

"Under such influence I grew to thinking manhood, and this influence has served me through life. There is no more priceless inheritance than the memory of a good mother."

Judging by the awful state of society, at present, we won the war but lost everything else.

The ring ceremony is very appropriate for most couples as proved by the fact they start putting up the ropes just as soon as they get home.

BEAUTY HINTS

By Peggy Hopkins Joyce

Although many contend that highly polished nails denote lack of discrimination, the high lustre is now very much in vogue. Personally I can see little beauty in the vivid tints which are quite popular at present, but dull nails may be touched up to very pleasing advantage with a natural shade of pink polish. The carefully polished nail adds distinction and gives a well-groomed appearance to the hand. Some people have the idea that nail polish is injurious. Quite the opposite! A good liquid polish (select it carefully) is beneficial in protecting the nails. Polishing does not make them brittle. The cracking and splitting generally is due to poor circulation or to chalky deposits. Before shining up your nails rub a little pumice stone over them. One application of liquid polish is sufficient. A dash of your favorite perfume scents the hand pleasantly and completes the careful manicure.

SON OF NOTED PUBLISHER IS WED IN PARIS

(By E. F. BERTLETT) PARIS, Aug. 5.—The marriage of Mrs. Gladys Emory, divorced wife of Charles Emory, to Herbert Pulitzer, youngest son of the founder of the New York World, this morning, came as a great surprise to Paris society.

Pulitzer has been spending the past few weeks at Deauville, while Mrs. Munn was in Paris. The marriage was a simple family affair. The bridegroom wore a simple blue serge business suit, a summer hat, and a carnation in his buttonhole. The bride wore a green and white black picture hat, trimmed with green ribbon and especially made by Yvonne Carrette.

The bride's witness was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gurnee Munn, who also wore a Yvonne Carrette creation—a three tiers gown of blue, green and yellow printed crepe de chine with a pale blue Bangkok hat. Hector Munn, also a witness, wore a business suit. Pulitzer gave his age as 29 and the bride's as 33. Her residence was given as Palm Beach.

With the exception of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, and a few of the couple's most intimate friends, none of their acquaintances attended the ceremony which took place at the town hall in the eighth district of Paris City. There was not the slightest show of pomp of any sort.

Directly after the ceremony Pulitzer gave up his apartment at the Carlton, announcing their departure this evening for their honeymoon in Venice. From there they intend to make an automobile tour through Switzerland and the resorts of France and Germany.

The bride and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gurnee Munn are both popular on both sides of the Atlantic and have the reputation in Paris of being the best dressed American society women who regularly visit the European Capitals.

According to an intimate friend, the Prince of Wales, who is a great friend of the Munn family, wired congratulations late today directly to the news of the wedding.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pulitzer while not attempting to make a secret of their marriage, admitted today they were desirous of avoiding publicity of any kind, for which reason they were prompted to keep the news of the engagement and the date of the wedding a secret even from their intimate friends.

Survey Asked For County Detention Home At Martinez

The Contra Costa probation committee, meeting at Martinez on Wednesday night, made recommendations that the supervisors provide for an inspection and observance of the county detention home.

The home, which was erected last winter at a cost of $40,000, is apparently sinking, the board declares, and an inspection should be made to determine whether or not the settling is of sufficient severity as to endanger the structure. The committee was informed that the walls of the building are cracking, due to the settling.

A recommendation was also made that the supervisors provide a playground at the detention home for young county wards.

It is said that the condition at the home is not alarming but that an investigation should be made to determine whether any material damage to the structure is likely and whether additional support should be provided.

All is in readiness for the candidates' ball to be given on August 10 at the Moose hall by the Tahoe Council, Degree of Pochontas.

HARRY LANGDON IN COMEDY AT THE RICHMOND

With this picture the noted comedian steps into the super-comedy class of Charles Chaplin and Harold Lloyd. Under the terms of his recent contract with First National he is to appear in a series of feature length comedies.

The story of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" is an original with Langdon and one which he has had in mind for some time. It deals with a cross-country walking race.

One of the numerous exciting and diverting episodes in "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," is a realistic cyclone scene. An entire township is blown to bits by this wind storm. During the taking of the scenes the movie cameraman had to be "anchored" to trees and posts to prevent being blown away.

Joan Crawford plays opposite the comedian. Others in the cast are Tom Murray, Alec Francis, Edwards Davis and Brooks Benedict.

Other features on the same program include "Cuckoo Love," a comedy riot of laughs, and "Felix Shoes Thru Scotland," a Felix the cat cartoon.

'HARD BOILED' IS FEATURED AT THE CALIFORNIA

If you have any lingering doubts as to whether Tom Mix uses the "real thing" in his "shooting scenes," watch closely when the "Chicago" sequences in "Hard Boiled" are flashed on the silver sheet at the California Theatre today and tomorrow.

In this thrilling Western, adapted from a story by Shannon Fife, the modern Buffalo Bill is supposed to break his rich uncle's heart by his careless antics. The uncle is Dan Mason.

Charles Conklin who was on the receiving end when Tom began firing, is authority for the statement that he actually felt the "spang" of the bullets.

Tom, in these shooting sequences, flips an apple from the top of Conklin's head, snaps a pipe out of his mouth, smashes a ball held between thumb and forefinger, and performs other little stunts calculated to work up an appetite for breakfast.

"Scared," said Conklin, "No, not exactly, but mighty steady—that was me! I knew Tom could shoot, but I understood that I was to stand all-fired still!"

Conklin said he had a queer feeling when the clay pipe cracked between his teeth. Tom used a six-shooter for that one! The others were with a rifle.

Other features on the same program include "Dizzy Daddies," a Hal Roach comedy; "Nazareth," a Holy Land subject; "International News," and Larry Canelo at the organ.

Tedious Game

Two ball clubs, the All Standards and the Refinery, played around the first street ball park last night for a few hours play. After the smoke had cleared away and the killed and badly wounded were taken care of a check up was made and it was found, after long and careful study that the Refinery won the game by a score of 8 to 5.

Bill Orr started for the All Standards, lasted for about four innings and then was removed. It was in the fourth that the Refinery batted three runs off Orr. Three home runs graced the game. Hansen, Duncan and Snaveley were the boys who got the circuit wallop.

In spite of the fact that Frank Wolfgram was walloped for twelve hits he sent ten men to the beach by the strike-out route.

DIVORCE SUIT IS FILED BY EX- AMBASSADOR

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Aug. 5.—Records of the Monroe County common pleas court showed today that Richard Washburn Child, former United States Ambassador to Italy and a writer of wide note, has asked a divorce from his wife, Maud Parker Child, also a writer.

His attorney, C. R. Besinger, law partner of former attorney-general A. Mitchell Palmer, impounded the papers in the case and it was impossible to learn the grounds upon which Mr. Child sues. The subpoena granted upon Mrs. Child is returnable the fourth Monday in September.

Buck Hill Falls, the exclusive colony of friends, has been Mr. Child's residence for a number of years, but Mrs. Child, it is said, has not been at the colony for some time.

Mr. Child was married in August 1916 in Havana to Maud Parker, great niece of Brig. Gen. Dangerfield Parker, U. S. A., retired, of Washington. He had been married once before, his first wife being Elizabeth Scott of Arlington, Va. That marriage took place in 1904 and was dissolved in 1915.

Mr. Child's fame rests mainly on his achievements in journalism, though he is a well known author and lawyer. During the early part of the World War he was attached to the Russian Army as correspondent and sent back dispatches that are a part of history, particularly his description of the retreat of the army which resulted in the Kerensky revolution.

He was in the war savings department as assistant to Frank A. Vanderlip when this country entered into the conflict, and after the hostilities he became editor of Collier's Weekly. Then he was editor of President Harding's campaign speeches in 1920. He went to Rome as Ambassador in appreciation of his work.

While in Italy he was a prominent figure in the Lausanne conference. After years, he resigned to engage in literary work.

Jury Sets Costs In Utility Suit

After two hours of deliberation, a jury in Judge A. B. McKenzie's court yesterday afternoon in determining the costs which the East Bay Municipal Utilities District must pay for fifty-eight acres of the J. C. Hooper company's property near Pittsburg, placed the costs at $25,000.

The case required three weeks for hearing during which time various estimates on the value of the land were given by witnesses of both sides. According to Judge McKenzie, witnesses for the utility company, plaintiffs, valued the property from $12,000 to $23,000, while the defendant's witnesses valued the land from $200,000 to $300,000.

The property consists of a four-mile right-of-way through the Hooper company's holdings. Because of the length of the right-of-way, the suit is regarded as one of the most important of a score of condemnation suits being brought by the Utility District.

Fire Destroys Priest Hill

(By Universal Service)

MODESTO, August 5.—The town of Priest Hill Tuolumne county including the Priest Hill on the Big Oak Flat road to Yosemite was wiped out this afternoon by a brush fire which late today was sweeping in several directions in dangerous proportions.

More than 50 inhabitants of Priest Hill were made homeless and homes besides the hotel and its garage and outbuildings were razed by the flames.

Big Oak Flat was saved after a hard fight but a fire beyond control was reported to be spreading toward the Mokasin creek and Early Intake power houses on the Hetch Hetchy system.

British Statesmen In Cabinet Film

LONDON, August 5.—Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, is a budding film star. This is the opinion of critics who have had a preview of a special movie of the Cabinet at work. It is declared that Churchill is all animation in the film, but premier Baldwin, posing with his famous cherry wood pipe, is more natural, occasionally even exhibiting boredom.

The film is intended as an anti-communist propaganda showing how well the conservatives are running the ship of state.

MYSTERY SHOW BY VETERANS IS SUCCESSFUL

The magic show presented by the Spanish American War Veterans last night in the Memorial hall played to a crowded house. Professor El Tab and his staff of assistants staged the mystery work which dumfounded all.

One of the leading performers was Lloyd E. Jones, the "joyful deceiver." He combined humor with his magic, keeping the audience laughing through out his performance. His offer was a series of Chinese and American magic.

Charles Rothschild, the noted conjurer of coins presented the "Miser's Dream," bringing coins of all shapes and values from the air, much to the envy of his audience.

Mystery act after mystery act, presented under the direction of Professor El Tab kept the audience in a daze. Ellis Gunther with his "Floating Ball" and his "Spirit hand of Dr. Q" was as entertaining as mystifying.

Chic Barry's orchestra was in evidence, supplying the music for the program, which was as follows:

"Blue Bonnet," selection by Chick Barry's orchestra.
Deceptive Divertissements, R. S. Bailey, assisted by Orville Burdick.

Koin Konjuring, C. L. Rothschild.

"The Man From Another World," Professor El Tab, assisted by G. F. Bull and L. E. Jones.
Recitation, Rosalie Harrison.

Antispiritualistic Manifestations, F. H. Gunther, assisted by Orville Burdick.
Manipulative Magic, R. S. Bailey.

"The Magical Chinaman," Blue W. Williams.
"Seeing Things," Lloyd Jones.
Mento—"The Unsolved Mystery," Professor El Tab, assisted by Claude Burke.

Exit March, "Valencia," Chick Barry's orchestra.

The affair proved a big success and netted a good sum for the benefit of the Spanish American War Veterans' lodge.

Denbigh have returned from leaves. Ann Johnson was transferred to Roosevelt from Grant and Louise McLaughlin to Roosevelt from Lincoln.
